People must trust elections by PM, says SG amid challenge to authority

In 2023, a five-judge constitution bench of SC had directed that pending enactment of a law by Parliament, appointments should be made by a panel comprising the PM, CJI and leader of the opposition to infuse independence into the process. Parliament subsequently enacted the 2023 Act, which replaced the CJI with a cabinet minister.

Attorney general (AG) R Venkataramani and solicitor general (SG) Tushar Mehta urged the bench not to question the wisdom of Parliament, arguing that doing so would amount to interference with the independence of the legislature. The AG said Parliament's legislative choice could not be questioned merely because another model was possible, and that "Parliament cannot be gagged". The SG added that the three organs of the state — executive, legislature and judiciary — were independent, and their independence must be respected.

"People must trust the Prime Minister. The office of the Prime Minister has a sanctity attached... If his decision is not to be trusted and is to be seen as necessarily a bad-faith exercise, then why not have a provision that even while selecting his cabinet he must consult some former judge or outsider?" SG Mehta said.

Mehta added that one organ of the state could not proceed on the basis that the PM and other ministers would act in bad faith or against constitutional principles simply because they have the numerical majority.

The bench clarified that there was no question of not trusting the PM. However, it asked the SG how many ministers in the govt had cases pending against them, recalling that the court had earlier reposed trust in the elected govt to ensure that people with criminal antecedents were not appointed as ministers.

"It is not a lack of faith. The election commissioner has to be an independent person. Should there not be a show of fairness? We are not saying fairness has not been achieved by this committee. Just like justice is not only to be done, it has to be shown to be done, we are on the second part," the bench said.

Govt requested that the petitions be referred to a larger constitution bench, arguing that an important question of law was involved. This plea was opposed by senior advocates D Seshadri Naidu, Gopal Sankaranarayanan, Prashant Bhushan and Sanjay Parikh, who contended govt was raising this ground after 20 days of hearing.

In an affidavit, govt countered the petitioners' claim that the independence of Election Commission would be compromised by replacing CJI with a cabinet minister. It maintained that free and fair elections had never been casualties even when appointments were made solely by the executive for over seven decades. Govt described as hypothetical the suggestion that vesting the executive with exclusive authority in EC appointments would necessarily compromise the independence of the poll watchdog.

Uproar in SC over outsiders appointing EC and CEC posts

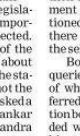
New Delhi: Supreme Court, while hearing the validity of the CEC and Other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Act, witnessed a high pitched exchange of words between govt and the bench, with solicitor general Tushar Mehta attacking the collegium system of 'judges appointing judges' to argue that if any "outsider" was not allowed in the appointment of judges, then why should an "outsider" be involved in appointments to the Election Commission.



Mehta said the judiciary alone could not claim independence, as the independence of the other two organs — the executive and the legislature — were equally important and should be respected. "Why is independence of the judiciary being talked about as if only one organ of the state is independent and not the other organs?" Mehta asked a bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Satish Chandra Sharma, adding that he was being "very circumspect" in his argument.

Mehta added that the legislature was directly accountable to people and the law made by it should not be questioned just because there was no "outsider" in the panel for appointment of the CEC and ECs.

The bench then referred to B R Ambedkar's speech given a few years after the Constitution was adopted in which he had said that democracy had failed in the country.

Mehta said he was unaware of the speech, but added that SC judges, who had passed verdicts in favour of the collegium system, had publicly accepted that they had made a mistake. He asked that when there was no "outsider" involved in the appointment of judges, then how could the appointment of CEC/ECs be questioned on the grounds that there was no "outsider" in the selection panel.

Bombarded with repeated queries, including on the issue of why the case should be referred to a five-judge constitution bench, Mehta finally pleaded with the bench to allow him to argue his way.

PM urges energy independence amid W Asia crisis

The release said the meeting also assessed the fertiliser requirement for the ensuing rabi season and discussed alternative sources of fertilisers. "PM said that all measures be taken for ensuring uninterrupted supply of fertilisers," it said. Persons familiar with the discussion said fertiliser stock was 30-35% higher than last year and there was no reason for any concern.

Similarly, in the case of gas as well as crude oil, supplies were more than adequate, with cabinet secretary T V Somanathan in a presentation underlining that govt's strategy to diversify the sources had helped mitigate the risk.

"Availability of adequate crude oil has enabled central public sector enterprise refineries to operate at utilisation levels exceeding 100%, ensuring continued production of petrol, diesel and other petroleum products. Initiatives have also been taken to expand PNG connections which have resulted in substantial increase in PNG connections," it said.

Besides, it said, govt was also facilitating industrial substitution of LPG through expansion of the National Gas Grid, augmentation of LNG import and regasification infrastructure, expansion of city gas distribution networks, faster approvals for expansion of the pipeline infrastructure.

Govt: Meta has expressed regret over PM post row

Upcoming discussions between Meta and govt will cover both the policy and technical aspects of the incident, as well as Meta's response to concerns raised by govt, electronics and IT secretary S Krishnan said Thursday.

According to Krishnan, Meta has also written to govt expressing regret over the episode and outlining its understanding of the reasons behind removal of the video.

"The company has expressed regret, and we will be meeting their global officials in the next 7-10 days," Krishnan said, adding govt is continuing to examine Meta's explanation.

The development follows ministry of electronics and information technology (MeitY) summoning Meta's senior global executives over the brief removal of PM's Facebook post. Govt officials had earlier said they were not satisfied with the company's explanation that the takedown was caused by an automated error and maintained the matter was 'far from settled'.

Krishnan said govt is examining representations submitted by messaging platforms regarding the proposed introduction of usernames, an issue on which MeitY had recently sought responses from companies.
