

TWIST IN LAKKUNDI

Family rejects gold stash, Patil says it's a treasure

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Lakkundi/Gadag

THE developments after a family in Lakkundi found a stash of gold ornaments buried under the earth on their land took a new twist on Monday. The family who earlier staked claim on the gold now says they do not want it. State Archaeological Survey of India Director Dr R Sheeshwar visited Lakkundi on Monday and confirmed that the find is a treasure.

some families who suffered after taking gold dug up from their lands. Hence, we have suggested to the Ritti family to ask the government for help in getting a new house, and we will also help them."

District in-charge minister HK Patil and state ASI Director Dr R Sheeshwar said the gold found by the family was a treasure. They said they respect the honesty of the family and the latter will be given suitable reward according to the law.

On Sunday, an ASI official from Dharwad said that the golden ornaments cannot be classified as a treasure but changed his statement on Monday, saying that he was confused.

Consider discarding BMIC project, HC tells state govt

YATHIRAJU @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday directed the state government to consider discarding the Bangalore Mysore Infrastructure Corridor (BMIC) project which has remained only on paper over the last 30 years.

"The project proponents are collecting huge tolls by constructing peripheral roads and toll plazas. They are sitting on a huge land bank, but without its proper use as the expressway has not yet been constructed, and there is no sign of it being constructed in future. Therefore, we direct the state government to re-look the project and take appropriate steps in this regard", said a division bench of Justice D K Singh and Justice Venkatesh Naik T.

The court made these remarks while dismissing the petition filed by Chandrika, a resident of Benson Town in the city, seeking directions to NICE Ltd. and the state to provide compensation, as she filed the petition by suppressing the fact that she obtained Rs 51.36 lakh compensation in 2007 by executing an indemnity bond for full and final settlement of compensation for acquisition of 3 acres and 23 guntas near Kengeri in the city.

The project and its planning, as delineated in the Project Technical Report (PTR), has remained only on paper, even after 30 years, for various reasons... It is informed that out of 111 km of BMIC, only 1 km has been constructed by Nandi Infrastructure Corridor Enterprise (NICE). It has constructed 47 km of peripheral roads from which it collects toll tax to its profit. But the ambitious project of such a public interest to decongest the city and to develop a new satellite township has remained only on paper. Not even a single township has been developed in the last 25 years. The result is that, today, it is difficult to travel on the roads of Bengaluru, and mobility has come to a standstill, the court noted.

No purpose would be served by keeping the project alive when, in more than 25 years, only one kilometre has been constructed. It would be in the interest of the city, citizens, environment and the future, to re-look at the project and take appropriate action for a fresh and new project, discarding the old one, the court said.

"The population of the city is more than 1.4 crore. It takes hours to travel a small distance in the city. The infrastructure facilities are crumbling down. The environment is badly affected. The state government, therefore, must take necessary decisions for fresh planning by discarding the Framework Agreement at the earliest to ameliorate the living conditions of the city. We hope that an informed decision will be taken in this regard at the earliest", the court observed.

The project proponents are collecting huge tolls by constructing peripheral roads and toll plazas. They are sitting on a huge land bank, but without its proper use as the expressway has not yet been constructed, and there is no sign of it being constructed in future

State's Ameer-e-Shariat Maulana Rashadi no more

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ISLAMIC scholar and religious leader Maulana Sagheer Ahmad Khan Rashadi, widely regarded as one of Karnataka's most influential Muslim clerics, breathed his last on Monday morning following prolonged illness. He was 75. His death has triggered an outpouring of grief across Karnataka and beyond, with community leaders describing the loss as profound and irreparable.

He drew statewide attention when he called for a peaceful bandh in response to the Karnataka High Court verdict on the hijab issue in educational institutions, urging restraint while asserting the right to religious practice. His appeal for non-violence and discipline during that period was widely noted.

Tributes have poured in from Islamic scholars, religious organisations, social activists and ordinary citizens, many of whom remembered him as a compassionate guide who combined traditional scholarship with social responsibility. Several leaders described him as a bridge between faith and contemporary challenges, and a steadfast voice during moments of uncertainty.

Funeral prayers are expected to be held on Tuesday morning at the Darul Uloom Sabeul Rashad campus on Nagawara Main Road in Bengaluru, where thousands of mourners are likely to gather to pay their last respects. Rashadi's passing marks the end of an era in Karnataka's Islamic scholarship, but his legacy is expected to endure through the institution he nurtured and the countless students he mentored over decades.
