HARSH REALTY

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday sought responses from the Central Enforcement Directorate, Reserve Bank of India and a host of realtors in North and West India (Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority) who were involved in housing and urban affairs and real estate projects. The court also asked the Enforcement Directorate, Reserve Bank of India and a host of realtors in North and West India (Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority) who were involved in housing and urban affairs and real estate projects.

The case disclosed a wider pattern of diversion of homebuyers' funds transfer of development rights, non-compliance of real estate projects, regulatory inaction and ineffective enforcement of statutory remedies under real estate regulatory authority REIRA, Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code and Prevention of Money Laundering Act. Referring to stalled 'Jayabalan' project in Jaipur, the petitioner said the ED had alleged that of the Rs 14,569 crore collected from homebuyers, Rs 13,833 crore was diverted to other projects. He also alleged that the project had already directed a pan-India CBI investigation into dubious realtors who had siphoned off homebuyers' deposits. He also alleged that the project had already directed a pan-India CBI investigation into dubious realtors who had siphoned off homebuyers' deposits.
