

Massive stir against govt's internal reservation policy

Reservation is unscientific, resulting in injustice to Banjara community: Protesters

Banjara Samaj members' protest against SC internal reservation in Bidar on Monday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bidar

A MASSIVE public awareness convention and protest rally, led by former minister and Aurad (B) MLA Prabhu B Chavan, was held in Bidar on Monday against the Congress government's internal reservation policy. Protesters alleged that the scientific basis for the distribution of internal reservation had been ignored, resulting in injustice to the Banjara community.

Before the rally, community leaders offered special prayers at temples of Bhavani Devi and Sant Shri Sevala Maharaj near the District Banjara Bhavan. The procession then commenced from the temple premises and concluded at Jhira Function Hall.

Thousands of Banjara community members, including women and youth, participated in the march. They raised slogans against the Congress government, condemning what they described as discrimination against the Banjara community and demanding immediate corrective action.

Addressing the gathering, MLA Prabhu B Chavan accused the state government of betraying the Banjara community by implementing the internal reservation system in an 'unscientific' manner. He alleged that the government had failed to consider the community's population, social, educational, and economic status while allocating reservation. Chavan stated that earlier, 4.5 percent reservation was earmarked for the Banjara, Bhovi, Korama and Koracha communities. However, he claimed that inclusion of 59 additional castes in the same reservation category had diluted the benefits and deprived the original beneficiary communities of their rightful share.

He announced that similar awareness conventions had already been held successfully in Kalaburagi and that the movement would intensify across all districts of Karnataka, including Yadgir. Appreciating the participation of farmers and community members despite the ongoing sowing season, he said the agitation would continue on a much larger scale. "This is not a political movement but a fight for the future of our children. They deserve fair opportunities to become IAS and IPS officers, doctors and engineers. We are not asking for charity but for our constitutional rights guaranteed by Dr B R Ambedkar," Chavan said.

He warned that if the government failed to review the internal reservation policy, the community would launch statewide protests, including demonstrations outside Deputy Commissioners' offices, Social Welfare Department offices and road blockades.

Former Kalaburagi MP Dr Umesh Jadhav alleged that the Congress had spread misinformation during elections by claiming that the Banjara community would be removed from the Scheduled Caste list. He clarified that the community had remained within the Scheduled Caste category since before Independence and accused the government of deliberately discriminating against the community.
