Macron calls crisis meeting as blazes displace 2,50,000

PARIS

FRENCH President Emmanuel Macron called a crisis meeting Monday focusing on monster, uncontrolled wildfires that have forced more than 250,000 people to flee their homes, amid a first glimmer of hope that the spread of the largest blaze may have slowed.

In the Gironde region of southwest France, where flames have burned an area four times the size of Paris, the prefecture said the situation overnight had remained "globally stable"— a change from successive days where the giant blaze raging since last week had edged closer to the wine region city of Bordeaux.

No new evacuations were announced. But with France about to enter its peak August tourist season, Gironde authorities took more steps to keep vacationers away, banning holiday camps for children and for people with disabilities.

On the ground and in the air, with water- and retardant-dropping aircraft, the massive firefighting effort was engaged in a race against time, battling to make progress before a forecast surge in temperatures from Tuesday that could make fighting flames more difficult.

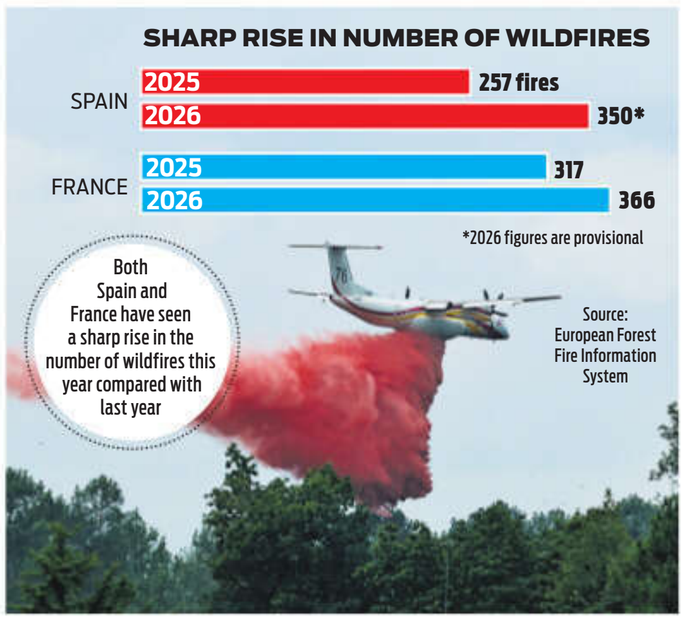

The government crisis meeting was scheduled for Monday morning, with Macron presiding. In a weekend post on X, he pledged long-term support for fire-hit communities, saying: "We will rebuild, we will repair and we will be present for as long as necessary."

In Spain, wildfires have burned out of control around Madrid. Fire evacuations were also carried out Sunday in the Valencia region.

A total of 76,000 people have been evacuated in Spain while 30,000 others have been confined to their homes, the government said.

Evacuees fretted about what they'll find when they're allowed to return. "It looked like the apocalypse. You couldn't see anything. Everything was covered in ash," said Rocio Dominguez, who evacuated with her dog, Simba, from Chapineria, west of Madrid.

"We don't know when we get to the town, if we'll have half the house burned down or we'll have it intact or we won't have a house," she said. "All the clothes, all the memories, everything." In both Spain and France, the exceptional scale of the fires — fuelled by heat waves that hit especially hard making forests and scrubland tinderdry — are driving calls for stronger climate action. AP

NEW HEATWAVE ALERT

Spain, which is battling massive wildfires, will enter a new heatwave on Wednesday which will last "at least" until Sunday, the national weather office AEMET said. "The risk of fires will rise to extreme levels," it added in a statement. The office had previously predicted temperatures would rise but it was not clear until now bout of heat would meet the criteria for a heatwave

No fresh attacks, mediators see progress in push to end Iran war

Tehran-backed militias keep sparks flying even as Iran, US hold fire for third consecutive

DUBAI

MEDIATORS have achieved progress in efforts to get the United States and Iran back to negotiations and avert an all-out war in the Middle East, two regional officials said Monday, with a pause in attacks coming after a period of rapidly escalating tensions.

The comments came after neither the US nor Iran reported carrying out any attacks for three straight days — a respite after about two weeks of sustained bombardments that had led to increasing fears of a return to all-out war.

The two regional officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss the sensitive regional talks, said mediators led by Qatar and Pakistan were working to bridge the gap between Washington and Tehran to return to an interim ceasefire deal that had been largely undermined by recent exchanges of fire.

One of the regional officials who spoke to AP Monday described the progress made in mediation efforts as "significant".

He said mediators were working with Iran and Oman on a mechanism for managing vessels' transit through the Strait of Hormuz, which was the trigger for the latest round of strikes and counterstrikes between Iran and the US. Iran's Foreign Ministry spokesperson, Esmail Baghaei, said during a news conference in Tehran Monday that mediators were conveying messages but that no direct negotiations were being held with the US.

"Mediators may convey messages to us from the American side regarding ongoing developments in the region. But at present, we have no negotiations with the American side," Baghaei said.

He said several rounds of talks had already been held between Iran and Oman, which lies on the other side of the Strait of Hormuz, on Friday and Saturday on how to manage ship traffic through the waterway. "The objective is for Iran and Oman, as the two coastal states, to develop mechanisms to ensure safe navigation through the Strait of Hormuz while respecting the sovereign rights and sovereignty of both coastal states, as well as Iran's security and national interests" Baghaei said.

Meanwhile, scattered attacks by armed groups across the region underscored the lingering tensions. Saudi Arabia said it had shot down drones fired by Iran-backed militias in Iraq that had targeted its petroleum facilities. AP

Sheikh Hasina

Charges filed against Hasina, 40 others over 2013 crackdown

DHAKA

BANGLADESH'S International Crimes Tribunal (ICT) prosecution on Monday filed formal charges against deposed prime minister Sheikh Hasina and 40 others in a crimes against humanity case related to a police crackdown on a rally in Dhaka in 2013.

Several people were killed allegedly during police action on Islamist group Hefazat-e-Islam's protest rally in May 2013, when Hasina's Awami League was in power.

The charges were submitted to the registrar of the ICT on Monday.

The tribunal "has taken into contingence charges against her (Hasina) and 40 others over the killings at (capital's) Shapla Chattar during the Hefazat-e-Islam protest rally," chief prosecutor Aminul Islam told reporters.

The tribunal also issued arrest warrants for the fugitives, including the then army chief, other politicians and security officials.

Nine of the high-profile accused, including former ministers, senior police officers and journalists, are in jail to face the trial, according to the prosecution.

Hasina, 78, was sentenced to death by the same tribunal in November last year after a trial in absentia for a superior role in taming a student-led protest which toppled her Awami League government in 2024.

She fled to India and has been living there since August 5, 2024.

On May 5, 2013, Hefazat-e-Islam staged a grand rally at the heart of the city with police permission over their 13-point demand, mainly calling for enactment of a blasphemy law for tougher punishment for humiliating Islam and revered figures. PTI

Burnham hosts Zelenskyy, signals support for Kyiv

LONDON

UKRAINIAN President Volodymyr Zelenskyy will meet Monday at a naval base in England with Prime Minister Andy Burnham, a visit the British leader said is intended to signal the country's "unwavering" support for Kyiv.

Zelenskyy's trip is the first by a foreign leader since Burnham took office a week ago. His predecessor, Keir Starmer, was in Kyiv less than two weeks ago in his last overseas trip before leaving office.

Burnham will be the fifth British prime minister to deal with Zelenskyy since Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022.

"Russia should be in no doubt of our resolve, and we will not back down until we achieve long lasting and just peace for Ukraine," said Burnham, who has spent the past nine years as mayor of Greater Manchester and has little foreign policy experience.

The UK trip comes a day before Zelenskyy is expected to meet with US President Donald Trump in Washington.

During the visit to Portsmouth on England's south coast, Zelenskyy and Burnham will meet more than 200 Ukrainian military personnel who have spent the past three weeks in Britain.

They have been taking part in an exercise aimed at strengthening their fighting capabilities and measures to counter mines in the Black Sea, the UK government said.

Ukraine has expanded its campaign of frequent drone attacks deep inside Russia that have targeted oil facilities, military factories and, most recently, logistical centers, bringing the war home to millions of Russians and raising pressure on President Vladimir Putin. PTI

China, Japan can't agree whether their ministers met

BEIJING

DID the foreign ministers of China and Japan talk at last week's ASEAN regional meeting, or didn't they?

Japan's Toshimitsu Motegi told reporters last week that he had briefly discussed bilateral relations with Chinese counterpart Wang Yi when they ran into each other during the meeting in the Philippines.

But on Monday, a Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson contradicted that.

"Let me make it clear once again that during his visit to Manila, Foreign Minister Wang Yi did not have a meeting with the Japanese side on his schedule, nor did any brief exchanges take place on the site," Lin Jian said when asked at the daily briefing.

The differing accounts reflect the positions of the governments over a sharp deterioration in their ties since November, when a comment about Taiwan by Japan's Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi angered China.

Japan is looking for opportunities to rebuild relations, but China has given its neighbour the cold shoulder. The tensions have spilled over into the economy and heightened unease in both countries about the expansion of each other's militaries.

Shortly after becoming prime minister, she was asked in parliament in November if a Chinese blockade of Taiwan or other military action would be a scenario in which Japan could get involved under a policy known as collective self-defence. Takaichi responded that the Taiwan example could meet the criteria: "If it involves the use of warships and military actions, it could by all means become a threatening situation," she said. AP

Ex-army chief emerges as top rival to Netanyahu ahead of polls

JERUSALEM

AS Israel heads into a fiercely contested general election on October 27, former military chief Gadi Eisenkot has emerged as the principal challenger to Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu.

Eisenkot's rise comes at a pivotal moment in Israeli politics, with the election widely viewed as a referendum on the long-serving premier's leadership in the violent aftermath of Hamas's October 7, 2023, attack on Israel.

Gadi Eisenkot

A recent Channel 12 poll put Eisenkot's new party, Yashar (Hebrew for "Straight" or "Upright"), ahead of Netanyahu's Likud, projecting 23 seats to Likud's 22 in the 120-member Knesset. The same survey found that 43 percent of respondents considered Eisenkot, 66, the most suitable candidate for prime minister, compared with 34 percent for Netanyahu.Eisenkot — who has dismissed calls for a future Palestinian state as irrelevant after the October 7 attacks and pioneered Israel's strategy of disproportionate military responses in Lebanon — has built his campaign around a 10-point platform that he says will restore Israel's security, unity and democratic institutions. Chief of staff of the Israeli military between 2015 and 2019, Eisenkot was among those credited with developing the "Dahiya Doctrine", named after a Beirut suburb that is a Hezbollah stronghold.

Advanced on the premise that Hezbollah conceals fighters and weapons among civilian homes and infrastructure, the doctrine calls for a devastating Israeli response against enemy population centres when Israeli communities come under long-range attack.

At the top of his civilian manifesto is a pledge to establish a state commission of inquiry into Hamas's bloody 2023 cross-border attack, which triggered the Gaza war, and which led to Netanyahu's government being accused of overseeing an intelligence failure. AFP

Gang war forces cancellation of key ritual at Lanka temple

COLOMBO

A deadly threat stemming from the rivalry between two underworld gangs has forced the cancellation of a key ritual in Sri Lanka's centuries-old annual religious pageant at a revered ancient Hindu temple in the island nation, police said on Monday.

The week-long Esala perahera (pageant) at the Uthpalawanna Sri Vishnu temple in the coastal town of Devinuwara, which began on July 23, will not feature the traditional Kavadi dance on Tuesday following intelligence warnings.

Police have directed the Matara district secretary, the chief government administrator of the district, to cancel the Kavadi ritual over security concerns.

The Devinuwara Esala pageant, which dates back to the 13th century, is one of Sri Lanka's oldest and most significant religious and cultural festivals held in honour of Lord Vishnu, regarded as one of the guardian deities of the island. PTI
