Iran firm on terms to reopen Hormuz, says US war not over

Tehran open to diplomacy but will not compromise on its rights despite Trump's rejection of its peace offer, demands return to truce deal for access to the strait

NEW YORK

IRAN stood firm on Sunday on its conditions for reopening the Strait of Hormuz, despite US President Donald Trump's rejection of the proposal, leaving the West Asia war locked in a stalemate.

Meanwhile, Iran's top army general says the "war is not over" with the US and Tehran must "consolidate its victory" with the strait to remain closed until economic sanctions end.

Iran's plan called for a cessation of all hostilities in the Middle East, including in Lebanon, according to Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi, and a return to the conditions in the ceasefire deal that fell apart a few months ago. That agreement, which dissolved during fighting over Hormuz, called for the release of frozen Iranian assets, the lifting of sanctions on Iranian oil and an end to the US naval blockade.

WAR WATCH

"Our conditions are clear, and any move toward reopening the Strait of Hormuz is contingent upon these conditions being fulfilled. We will not back down from them," Araghchi said on Sunday, state broadcaster IRIB reported. "We have never closed the door to diplomacy or negotiations, but at the same time, we have never backed down from our rights." But Trump said on Saturday that he rejected the truce deal.

"They want to make a deal where they open the Strait immediately because they're losing so badly," he told reporters. "They want to make a deal and I think that's fine. I like making a deal too." His ambassador to the UN, Mike Waltz, accused Tehran of demanding too much in exchange for a return to the negotiating table. "This was, I think, a pretty cynical attempt to put something on the table that they knew was unacceptable. To ask for the release of the blockade, the sanctions, international sanctions and access to billions in assets, just to talk," he told NBC News in an interview broadcast Sunday.

"I think it's kind of common sense that the president doesn't have a lot of confidence this time after we just tried a few months ago." Araghchi, however, said the Iranians "saw the first reaction from the US president, but so far, nothing has been conveyed to us by the mediators". AFP

Houthis say Saudi strikes on Yemen's Taiz leave several hurt

SANAA: Saudi airstrikes on Taiz in southwest Yemen killed seven people and wounded 40 others at a market, Houthi media said Sunday, as fighting escalated after a months-old truce collapsed. Houthi military spokesman Yahya Saree accused Saudi Arabia of carrying out two raids and vowed consequences. Five children were among the wounded. Saudi Arabia has not immediately commented on the reported strikes.

Israel delays West Bank settlement bids until after polls

JERUSALEM: Israel's attorney general on Sunday postponed by a month the deadline for bids for a major settlement project in the occupied West Bank, pushing it past election day. The E1 project, which includes more than 1,200 housing units, has drawn international condemnation over concerns it would isolate east Jerusalem from the rest of the West Bank. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu faces elections on October 27.

Iran claims seizure of US submarine drone in Hormuz

TEHRAN: Iran's Revolutionary Guards said Sunday they seized an American submarine drone in the Strait of Hormuz, accusing it of espionage. The Guards identified the vessel as a Remus 600 autonomous underwater vehicle and said specialists were recovering its data. Tehran earlier claimed to have captured another US submarine drone in the strait, which it has blockaded since the West Asia war began in late February.

UK police arrest five over 'terrorist act' near air base

FAIRFORD

BRITISH counter-terrorism police were on Sunday probing "a major" incident near a base used by the US air force after arresting five men on suspicion of "preparing a terrorist act", police said.

Armed officers detained the group in the early hours after a call to emergency services about three "suspicious vehicles which appeared to be travelling towards the air base", London's Metropolitan Police said in a statement.

The suspects were initially held near the Royal Air Force (RAF) Fairford air base in Gloucestershire, southwest England, on suspicion of explosives offences.

Meanwhile, Donald Trump said on Sunday that the five suspects were aiming to cause significant damage to the UK base, which houses US troops and aircraft. "We had them under investigation. They were looking to do big damage to our fort, and working with the British worked out great," Trump said while on a visit to Chicago.

Some 85 households in the nearby village of Whelford were advised to evacuate and army bomb disposal experts called in to examine three vans stopped on a rural road.

"Counter Terrorism Policing can now confirm they are leading an investigation into an incident which took place overnight near RAF Fairford in Gloucestershire," the Met statement added. Broadcast aerial footage showed a bomb disposal robot on a rural road moving around the vans, two of which had their rear doors open.

Police believed the incident had been "contained" and a 400 metre cordon had been put in place. Armed officers could be seen guarding the entrance to the base. AFP

Standoff in Portadown as protesters block Protestant march

PORTADOWN

UK Prime Minister Andy Burnam urged "calm" Sunday as thousands of people rallied to block a pro-British Protestant march from passing through a mainly Catholic area for the first time in 28 years, triggering an hours-long standoff.

The tensions spiked after a Belfast court in the early hours of Sunday cleared the march by the Orange Order to go ahead for the first time since 1997.

The Parades Commission, Northern Ireland's independent body regulating contentious processions, had authorised 35 Orangemen to march silently along Garvaghy Road in Portadown, without bands or supporters from 8 am on Sunday.

But hours later the group of Orangemen remained blocked in a church, while about 2,000 local residents ignored torrential rain to fill the streets and bar their path.

Burnham appealed for "calm on all sides", adding in an interview with BBC television that "big gains" had been made in Northern Ireland "and we don't want to see things go backwards". Northern Ireland was blighted for three decades by conflict between largely Catholic, pro-Irish republicans and Protestant, pro-UK unionists, and the Garvaghy Road became a major flashpoint during the late 1990s. There was a heavy security presence on Sunday in the Portadown area, 25 miles southwest of Belfast, with armoured police vehicles and a helicopter whirring overhead.

Northern Ireland First Minister Michelle O'Neill, of the Irish republican Sinn Fein party, condemned the late-night court ruling allowing the march to go ahead. AFP

Mass shootings in 2 townships leave 27 dead in South Africa

CAPE TOWN

TWO separate mass shootings in South African townships within hours of each other have left at least 27 people dead, police said on Sunday.

South Africa has struggled with violent crime for years, but recent shooting incidents have shocked a country used to some of the highest homicide rates in the world.

In the first attack, eight gunmen armed with AK-47 rifles and pistols opened fire at a bar near Johannesburg late on Saturday. The South African Police Service said 17 people were killed at the venue in Wedela.

Russia's Lavrov rejects German calls to de-escalate

UNITED NATIONS

RUSSIA's top diplomat rejected German calls to ease off its "dangerous path of escalation" toward the country, instead accusing Germany of being Ukraine's main sponsor and seeking to be a leading military power in Europe."Does Berlin understand what this could lead to?' Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov asked in his speech at the UN General Assembly's annual gathering of world leaders. "Didn't they not learn the lessons of World War II?" Lavrov was dismissive after the German and Russian foreign ministers met Saturday on the sidelines of the meeting, holding what's believed to be the first such tête-à-tête since Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022.

Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov of Russia speaks during 81st session of UNGA at United Nations headquarters | AP

"He simply reiterated his official public position condemning Russia," Lavrov said. "You can judge for yourself whether that counts as dialogue or not." The meeting, at German Foreign Minister Johann Wadephul's request, came just before Lavrov addressed world leaders, where he also criticised the militarisation of Japan.

He made clear that Russia will veto any attempt by Germany and Japan for permanent seats on the Security Council.
