AMRAVATI

Three newborn babies died and 36 were rescued after a fire broke out in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) of the District Women's Hospital here early Monday, triggering a high-level probe by the Maharashtra government.

The fire erupted at around 3.15 am inside a section of the NICU housing premature, low-weight, and critically ill babies, officials said.

Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis expressed deep grief over the "heart-breaking" incident and ordered a high-level probe to investigate the cause of the fire and pinpoint administrative failures. "The health administration has been directed to conduct a high-level inquiry," Fadnavis said in a statement, assuring that the strictest action would be taken against those found responsible. He directed Health Minister Prakash Abitkar and health secretary to visit Amravati in eastern Maharashtra to review the situation and asked local authorities to ensure that all injured children receive treatment at government expense. The CM announced an ex-gratia financial assistance of Rs 5 lakh to the family of each deceased infant.

Charred remains of medical equipment after a fire in a government hospital in Amravati district, Maharashtra.

According to police and health officials, the fire was triggered by an explosion in a ventilator in the outborn infants' section of the NICU.

The facility consists of three compartments, inborn, outborn, and a step-down care ward for infants preparing for discharge, housing a total of 39 babies at the time of the incident.

While staff and rescuers managed to evacuate six babies from the affected outborn section, three infants tragically died in the flames.

Amravati Police Commissioner Rakesh Ola said that six rescued infants were shifted to a super-speciality hospital, while four others were transferred to the Divisional Referral Services Hospital, where one child remains in critical condition. The bodies of the three deceased infants have been sent for post-mortem examination, he said.

CJP march on Sept 5 to Delhi Police HQ

NEW DELHI: Police on Monday stated that they have not received any requests for a protest march from India Gate to the Delhi Police Headquarters, despite the Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) announcing plans for one. "We have not received any request letter so far. If we receive any request, we will review it accordingly," a police source said. The CJP on Monday called for the protest march on September 5, accusing the Centre of failing to honour the promises to convince the outfit to withdraw its 36-day agitation against examination irregularities.

Scheduled to take place on Teachers' Day, the march will start at India Gate and head toward the Delhi Police Headquarters, according to CJP. PTI

'One Nation, One Election' possible in 2029, States agree: Panel chief

PTI

NEW DELHI

Holding simultaneous elections for the Lok Sabha and state assemblies in 2029 under the Modi government's 'One Nation, One Election' initiative is possible if the Constitution is amended and state governments support the move, according to PP Chaudhary, the chairman of the joint parliamentary panel examining the related bills.

The Constitution (129th Amendment) Bill, 2024, and the Union Territories Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2024, which aim to synchronise Lok Sabha and state assembly polls, were sent to the 31-member joint committee of Parliament headed by Chaudhary, a BJP MP from Rajasthan, following the Opposition's demand for broader scrutiny.

When asked if state assembly elections could be held alongside the 2029 Lok Sabha polls, Chaudhary said on Monday that if the constitutional amendment is approved in Parliament by 2028, the roll-out of 'One Nation, One Election' can begin that same year. "Then what is the problem. If the states express their desire in 2029, because we can't give the states directions to dissolve their assembly.

"They have to take their own decisions. It depends on the respective chief ministers and their council of ministers. If the council of ministers of the states decide in favour of 'One Nation One Election', that state elections should be held along with the Lok Sabha polls, then it is possible.

"It is up to them what they decide. The Indian Constitution allows that; it is permissible.

"Under the Indian Constitution, the states are empowered to hold simultaneous polls," he told reporters at the Parliament House complex after a meeting of the panel.

After food exposé, wine too brewed inside Colvale jail alcohol with favoured prisoners. "Some fights and assaults inside the facility are also because of the alcohol distribution. Some are also in an inebriated state," the source revealed.

Meanwhile, in the complaint to the government, a prisoner alleged that liquor smuggled into the jail from outside is mixed with the locally prepared brew, which increases the volume for sale within the premises.

Certain jail officials have been named in the complaint, with allegations that they were aware of, or involved in, the activities. No action on these specific allegations has been reported so far.

At the heart of the allegations is the jail canteen, which, under the rules, is required to function on a no-profit, no-loss basis. The complainant has alleged that canteen commodities are sold to inmates at inflated prices, amounting to a violation of their consumer rights and a criminal economic offence.

"Inmates are allegedly required to make digital payments through GPay to accounts said to belong to three convict prisoners. The actual MRP of the goods is then separately deducted from the prisoner's PPC account before the items are handed over," the source said, also as reported by The Goan on August 23.

The effect, the complaint alleged, is that inmates pay twice -- once through digital transfers at inflated rates and again through deductions from their prison accounts.

OPD consultations at GMC may soon be a click away a Rs 500 crore major infrastructure upgrade plan for the State's apex medical institution.

Sawant said the government was fast-tracking the proposed construction of an overbridge connecting the main GMC campus with the Super Speciality Block, with a consultant already appointed for the project. The proposed connectivity is aimed at bringing both facilities together as one integrated campus and making it easier for patients to access the Super Speciality Block.

"We will develop the entire campus as one single campus," Sawant said, adding that the government was working to transform GMC into a "five-star campus" with road resurfacing, beautification, underground cabling, improved lighting, garden maintenance and parking facilities, with works are targeted for completion by March.

Speaking in the presence of Health Minister Vishwajit Rane, Sawant informed that around Rs 500 crore worth of projects are planned or underway at GMC, including Rs 200 crore for the college block, Rs 106 crore for the GARD hostel, Rs 90 crore for the boys' hostel and Rs 100 crore for the Institute of Psychiatry and Human Behaviour.

Sawant said GMC had earned the trust of people in Goa as well as neighbouring parts of Maharashtra and Karnataka, and stressed that continued investment was necessary to maintain that confidence.

He also urged GMC heads of departments to regularly identify requirements for equipment and infrastructure and submit proposals to the government. He said that the government is also strengthening district and sub-district hospitals, including the South Goa District Hospital and hospitals at Chicalim and Ponda, by providing doctors and equipment to reduce the unnecessary load on GMC.

Relief for South Goa patients; MRI, chemo now at dist hospital also proved convenient for patients' relatives, as they could return home more easily after accompanying patients for treatment.

A dedicated team comprising doctors, trained nurses and MTS staff has been assigned to provide chemotherapy services at the district hospital.

The MRI facility has also significantly reduced the need for patients from South Goa to travel to Bambolim. Dr Borkar said the MRI machine, which cost the government around Rs 11-12 crore, is currently being utilised for around 10 scans a day.

Of these, about five patients are referred to the district hospital by the GMC, while the remaining five are patients from the South Goa district hospital.

The scans are conducted at the district hospital, while the reports are sent to the GMC for interpretation. Patients' phone numbers are recorded and they are contacted once the reports are received and ready for collection.

Farmers on edge as 'Omkar' strikes again

Panch member Dayanand (Daya) Gavandi said the elephant had previously visited this area in April.

"We do not want compensation from the government. We have built our plantations with hard work. That income is enough for us. The government should only protect this source of income that we have created with our hard work. Elephants coming every few months, destroying the crops and then discussing compensation is not a solution," said Gavandi.

He demanded that the forest department announce time-bound and effective measures to permanently control Omkar.

Ashok Parab also demanded a permanent solution to the problem.

"Every time Omkar comes, a large number of plantations are destroyed. Why is there no permanent arrangement till now? How much more damage will take place before the government finally takes a decision," asked Parab.
